FOR

The Revision of the Statute Law of Ireland.

A.D. 1878.

WHEREAS, with a view to the revision of the Statute Law, and particularly to the preparation of a Revised Edition of the Irish Statutes, it is expedient that certain enactments of the Parliament of Ireland (mentioned in the schedule to this Act) which may be regarded as spent, or which have ceased to be in force otherwise than by express and specific repeal by Parliament, or which have, by lapse of time and change of circumstances, become unnecessary, should be expressly and specifically repealed:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. The enactments described in the schedule to this Act are hereby repealed, subject to the exceptions and qualifications in the schedule mentioned; Enactments in schedule repealed.

Provided, that where any enactment not comprised in the schedule has been repealed, confirmed, revived, or perpetuated by any enactment hereby repealed, such repeal, confirmation, revivor, or perpetuation shall not be affected by the repeal effected by this Act: Saving.

and the repeal by this Act of any enactment shall not affect any Act in which such enactment has been applied, incorporated, or referred to;

nor shall such repeal of any enactment affect any right to any hereditary revenues of the Crown, or affect any charges thereupon, or prevent any such enactment from being put in force for the collection of any such revenues, or otherwise in relation thereto;

and this Act shall not affect the validity, invalidity, effect, or consequences of anything already done or suffered,—or any existing

[Bill 122.]

— or any remedy or proceeding in respect thereof,—or any release or discharge of or from any debt, penalty, claim, or demand,—or any indemnity, or the proof of any past act or thing ;

nor shall this Act affect any principle or rule of law or equity, or 5 established jurisdiction, form or course of pleading, practice, or procedure, or existing usage, franchise, liberty, custom, privilege, restriction, exemption, office, appointment, payment, allowance, or emolument, notwithstanding that the same respectively may have been in any manner affirmed, recognised, or derived by, in, or from 10 any enactment hereby repealed ;

nor shall this Act revive or restore any jurisdiction, office, duty, drawback, fee, payment, franchise, liberty, custom, right, title, privilege, restriction, exemption, usage, practice, procedure, or other matter or thing not now existing or in force. 15

Short title. 2. This Act may be cited as The Statute Law Revision (Ireland) Act, 1878.

A.D. 1878.

NOTE.

The entries in the third column of the schedule, with this Note, are intended to be struck out at a late stage of the Bill.

The object of these entries is to show the grounds of the proposed repeal of the Act, or part of an Act (specified in the second column), to which they refer.

In cases where the proposed repeal is not total, the entries apply to so much only of the Act as is proposed to be repealed.

This schedule is intended to comprise (as the preamble to the Bill states) enactments which have ceased to be in force, otherwise than by express and specific repeal, or have, by lapse of time and changes of circumstances, become unnecessary.

L.—For the purposes of the schedule six different classes of enactments are considered as having ceased to be in force, although not expressly and specifically repealed; namely, such enactments as are—

1. Expired.—that is enactments which, having been originally limited to endure only for a specified period, by a distinct provision, have not been either perpetuated or kept in force by continuance, or which have merely had for their object the continuance of previous temporary enactments for periods now gone by effluence of time;
2. Spent.^{*}—that is, enactments spent or exhausted in operation by the accomplishment of the purposes for which they were passed, either at the moment of their first taking effect, or on the happening of some event, or on the doing of some act authorized or required;
3. Repealed in general terms.—that is, repealed by the operation of an enactment expressed only in general terms, as distinguished from an enactment specifying the Acts on which it is to operate;
4. Virtually repealed.—where an earlier enactment is inconsistent with, or is rendered nugatory by, a later one;
5. Superseded.—where a later enactment effects the same purpose as an earlier one, by repetition of its terms or otherwise;

^{*} As to the use of the term spent, see 1 Blackist. Comm. 44. (14th ed.), and Report of the late Statute Law Commissioners, p. 7, and Warren v. Windle, 3 Kent, 205.

- A.D. 1878. 6. Obsolete.—where the state of things contemplated by the enactment has ceased to exist, or the enactment is of such a nature as to be no longer capable of being put in force, regard being had to the alteration of political or social circumstances.

II.—For the purposes of the schedule, enactments are considered unnecessary where the provisions are of such a nature as not to require, at the present day, statutory authority.

In many instances it appears from entries in the third column that part of an Act or of the portion of an Act comprised in the schedule has been already expressly and specifically repealed. Such part is included in the schedule in order that a complete and simultaneous repeal may be effected of the whole Act or of a large portion of the Act (as the case may be). Such a sweeping repeal is in various ways convenient, and particularly for simplifying the notes of Repeal to be made in the Revised Edition.

With a view to ascertain which of the Statutes of the period covered by the present schedule may be properly treated as not in force at this day, text books, digests, and reported cases have been resorted to for information as to the condition of these Statutes.
